

1. “Rise of the Planet of the Apes” is a science fiction drama. This means that the film is about something serious that might happen in the future as a result of people using science without thinking of the consequences. What did Will learn about scientific experimentation in the story?
2. What did Will’s girlfriend, Caroline, keep telling him about scientific experiments and nature? Why was this important?
3. Name another science fiction movie that you liked that is similar to “Rise of the Planet of the Apes.” What did the main character learn about being a better human being, caring for one another and the earth?
4. Although God is not mentioned in the movie, do you think that the scientists were trying to be as powerful as God? Why would people want to control other people and nature? If you were a character in the film who believed in God, what would you have said to Will and the other scientists (even though Will wanted to help his dad)?
5. Find a quote from the Bible that praises God’s creation that could have helped Will and the other scientists decide what to do, and type it here:
